Whey protein is a vital supplement for recovery. Protein in general is used by muscles for repairing and rebuilding, but whey in particular has numerous benefits in aiding recovery that go beyond the basic benefits of protein consumption. Whey is rapidly absorbed, easily digested, and has the highest concentration of BCAA's of any source of protein. It is best consumed immediately after a ...

Beta Alanine - Bodybuilding.com Forums

The most popular bodybuilding message boards! Research has suggested that Beta Alanine works well with carbohydrates. This could be particularly beneficial after exercise, by combining Beta Alanine with a carbohydrate such as Waxy Maize Starch, Maltodextrin or Dextrose. It is also thought that Beta Alanine and creatine work synergistically, so a combination of Beta Alanine, carbohydrates and ...
