

differences between mi5 and mi6

AI generated article from Bing

When should I use "difference" or "differences"?

When you think that there are more than one unlike events involved, use plural. For example: Are there any differences? If you talk about one particular What is the major difference?

word usage - Difference 'of' vs difference 'between' - English Language ...

A difference of is used to indicate the extent of a difference; it's a measure, whether a degree (temperature), a metre (length), a litre (volume) or a kilogram (mass). There is a difference of half a litre between the capacity of the two jugs. There is a difference of nearly a centimetre between the lengths of the tables. A difference between is used to compare two creatures/objects directly ...

"What is the difference" or "what are the differences"?

1 "What is a difference between X and Y?" is also grammatical, but it means something that one hardly ever wants to say: the speaker has deliberately refused to indicate how many differences he or she thinks there are, and no matter how many the listener thinks there are, the speaker only wants to hear about one of them.

punctuation - Difference between ' and " - English Language Learners ...

What's the difference between a single and a double quotation mark in English? I've heard that it only depends on where you live the US (for double quotation mark) or the UK and Australia (for single word usage - "any differences" vs. "any difference" - English Language ...

feels more natural than: "I can't see any differences between the two" unless it was understood that it is expected that the speaker ought to be able to find a number of specific differences, for example, as in a "spot the difference" puzzle, which would be worded "Can you find the 10 differences between these two cartoons?".

meaning - difference of vs difference in - English Language Learners ...

Is there any difference between the following sentences? What is the difference in meaning between those words? What is the difference of meaning between those words?

Glass vs Cup - differences in usage - English Language Learners Stack ...

In everyday spoken language when you, as native English speakers, say " glass " and " cup " are they considered as a synonym for you or you have a special meaning for each one of them? As a non native English speaker I don't find a difference between "I would like to have a glass of water." or "I would like to have a cup of water." Then my question is: Is the name of the vessel - in the spoken ...

What is correct: 'what are differences between' or/and 'what are the ...

What are the differences between a circle and a sphere? I know, that we use article a to speak about single countable noun, and also single countable noun mentioned for the first time, or speak about something single and countable in general.

Question on "difference(s) of opinion(s)" - usage

What is the correct expression in English? If various versions can be used, could you explain the usage differences and provide examples? Thanks: Difference of opinion Differences of opinion Diffe...

word choice - What are the differences between "but", "however ...

What are the differences between "but", "however", "nevertheless" and "nonetheless" Ask Question Asked 5 years, 4 months ago Modified 5 years, 4 months ago