

oldest unsolved cold case in america

AI generated article from Bing

Who are the oldest people in the world and where are they from? | World ...

The world's oldest people are all women. Four of the top 10 were born in the United States, and two were born in Japan.

These are the countries which are the world's oldest democracies ...

Which country today is the world's oldest democracy? It's a loaded question — as you'll see, there is plenty of nuance involved in the answer. Depending on how you define things, there are many jurisdictions that can lay claim to this coveted title.

Japan's ageing population: The implications for its economy | World ...

More than 1 in 10 people in Japan are now aged 80 or older. The ageing population is having a profound impact on Japan's #economy, #workforce and society.

Which countries have the oldest populations in the world? | World ...

Worldwide, the working-age population will see a 10% decrease by 2060, with big implications for the economy.

Ageing populations: How old can human beings live to be? | World ...

Most of us can expect to live to around 80, some people defy expectations and live to be over 100. The oldest person in history, a French woman named Jeanne Calment lived to 122, but when she was born the average life expectancy was roughly 43. A recent study proposes that the limit to human lifespan is closer to 150.

Old-growth forests and ancient trees: what you need to know

Indeed, the world's oldest tree, in eastern California, is thought to be the world's oldest living thing at more than 4,850 years old – older than the pyramids at Giza. Whether hundreds or thousands of years old, the role of ancient trees and woodland worldwide is clear.

Longevity: How old will people live to this century? | World Economic Forum

The oldest living person, Jeanne Calment of France, was 122 when she died in 1997; the current oldest person is 118-year-old Kane Tanaka of Japan. Using Bayesian probability, researchers estimate that the world record of 122 years almost certainly will be broken this century.

The world's oldest populations - The World Economic Forum

The number of people aged 65 and older is expected to double over the next three decades, reaching 1.6 billion in 2050. Asia is leading this trend.

These are the world's oldest and youngest countries

Around 20% of people in Japan, Germany and Italy are aged 65 or over, making the populations of these three nations the world's oldest.

This is how the world has been mapped throughout history

His milestone map closely resembles the oldest-surviving terrestrial globe, Erdapfel, created by cartographer Martin Behaim. Today, it's preserved at the Yale University archives. 1529: A well-kept Spanish secret The first ever scientific world map is most widely attributed to the Portuguese cartographer Diego Ribero.