-Pixel 6- My screen is lifting up and separating from the body of the phone. I can actually look under the display and into the body of the phone. The display panel is lifting up away from the body. I suspect the battery has expanded. I've also noticed that at 20% battery the time the phone will stay on is extremely small.

Separating twins in Google Photos

Separating twins in Google Photos We have twins in our extended family. We don't see them enough to easily distinguish them apart. Google photos has not separated them either so we labeled them Ann & Sarah. We are with them now, so I can ask them who is who, but how can I create a new name to pull one out of the combined label and into their own?
