BY Gregory A. Smith - Pew Research Center's Religion & Public Life Project

Whereas indicators of religious identity and frequency of prayer produced by self-administered surveys (like the NPORS) can be directly compared with estimates produced by interviewer-administered surveys (like the Center's earlier telephone surveys), self-administered surveys may produce slightly lower estimates of religion's importance ...

FOR RELEASE OCT. 17, 2019 - pewforum.org

The religious landscape of the United States continues to change at a rapid clip. In Pew Research Center telephone surveys conducted in 2018 and 2019, 65% of American adults describe themselves as Christians when asked about their religion, down 12 percentage points over the past decade. Meanwhile, the religiously unaffiliated share of the population, consisting of people who describe their ...

More Americans Than People in Other Advanced Economies Say

As the coronavirus pandemic continues to cause deaths and disrupt billions of lives globally, people may turn to religious groups, family, friends, co-workers or other social networks for support. A Pew Research Center survey conducted in the summer of 2020 reveals that more Americans than people in other economically developed countries say the outbreak has bolstered their religious faith and ...

In America, Does More Education Equal Less Religion?

The idea that highly educated people are less religious, on average, than those with less education has been a part of the public discourse for decades, but some scholars of religion have called this notion into question.<sup>1</sup> And a new analysis of Pew Research Center surveys shows that the relationship between religion and education in the United ...
