who founded the first psychology laboratory

What's the difference between "established" and "founded"

Ngram indicates was established to is more prevalent than was founded to. It might be argued that founded inclines slightly more towards the (corporate) structure and established slightly more towards the principles, but it's a fine line.

word choice - English Language & Usage Stack Exchange

More important than "formed" or "founded" in this specific example is this: "The supermarket where I work opened in May, 1999." When or how it was formed or founded is generally irrelevant, unless you are legally referring to when the organization that owns and operates the supermarket was incorporated, in which case that is the correct term to use. In the non-profit sector, I would say that ...

What is the difference between "found" and "establish"?

Related: Founded; founding. Phrase founding fathers with reference to the creators of the American republic is attested from 1916. It is focused on the 'bottom, base'.

word choice - "Founded on [date]" vs. "Founded in [date]" - English ...

It's in December 2011, or on December 25th 2011. Choice of preposition depends on whether it's on a specific day, or in some extended timeframe such as a month, season, or year. The standard wording is Established 2011 (it's unusual to specify the month or date thereof).

Which (if any) is correct: est., estd., or est'd.?

9 A business founded (or a building built or a monument dedicated) in 1854 might have a sign or plaque reading "EST'D 1854" or "EST 1854" or "ESTD 1854", or some other combination I haven't seen or heard of. What is the correct way to abbreviate the word "established" in this manner? What is the correct way to capitalize this abbreviation?

"Director at", "founder of". What is the correct usage of "at" and "of"?

Of means that this person is the director of ABC. At means that he is the director of a department, not of the entire company. Founder of ABC means that he founded the company in question. Founder at connotes a participation in founding. I am not sure if the latter is correct use. The meaning would be clearer with an expression like co-founder ...

When did the expression "hustle culture" emerge?

Deason who founded Affiliated Computer Services in 1988 as a bank data processor, credits much of his success to having instituted a "hustle" culture in which people come in earlier, stay later and do more for the customer than the next guy.

"VIP" and the acronym fad of the '30s. - English Language & Usage Stack ...

VIP, the acronym for Very Important Person, is from the 1930s, a boom decade for initialisms, according to www.wordorigins.org. Both Etymonline and the The Dictionary of American Slang say that its phrase requests - English Language & Usage Stack Exchange

I've heard of this position being called a pioneer member or charter member, but to me those imply that that member founded the organization. I didn't found this group, but once it became an offical organization, I was one of the first to join it.

What was Alexander Selkirk's "flip-can"?

A 'flip-can' is a sort of jug that's meant to hold flip. Flip was once a slang term for "a mixture of beer and spirit sweetened with sugar and heated with a hot iron" (Green's Dictionary of Slang). This sense of the word goes back to the 17th-century, which fits with the time of Selkirk's life. This is very likely the intended use in your context. The section "Life of Alexander Selkirk" in ...