Dangerous Beauty (1998) - Rufus Sewell as Marco Venier - IMDb

Marco Venier: There is no honor with fools like these. God will forgive you. Veronica Franco: Marco, if I give them my lie, I give them my soul. I'll lose everything I ever was. My love, my words, my heart. Marco Venier: Yes, but you would live. Veronica Franco: As someone else.

Michael Asimow: Dangerous Beauty - Carolina Academic Press

The love story between Franco and Marco Venier (Domenico's other nephew), which is central to the film, is apparently greatly exaggerated (although there is evidence that the two were intimate in real life).

To Marco Venier - Poets Corner

We present this work in honor of the 430th anniversary of the poet's death. If I could be certain of your love, from what your words and face display, which often conceal a changing mind; if external signs revealed what the mind conceals within, so that a person were not so often entrapped by deceit, I would cast aside this...
